

Women in Statistics Networking Breakfast

Sponsored by L'Oreal, the Women in Statistics Committee, led by newly appointed chair, Diana Stukel, held a lively breakfast and discussion event on Tuesday morning. More than 50 participants from across regions, age groups and sectors, discussed questions related to informal mentoring, roles of country representatives in the network of the Special Interest Group, and how to increase female membership of ISI. Each group recorded their discussion points and reported one main point. The recorded notes will be combined and a report circulated to participants and others who registered interest.

Old friends and new shared experiences and ideas, and expressed appreciation to the sponsor and local hosts for a successful and stimulating event. The lucky door prize was won by Fatima Sabor, Morocco.
